

Curriculum development for senior leaders

Intent, implementation, impact – 2 day course

Decisions at senior leadership level need to be made regarding the rationale for the curriculum and developing a clear intent for how pupils will develop skills, knowledge and understanding throughout their time in school. The underpinning curriculum philosophy and the nature of the school should be entwined, shaping decision making at all levels. This is an opportunity to map out a vision for the future.

This course is for senior leaders - schools may also wish to invite a school governor

- Current curriculum thinking and responding to the most recent Ofsted research publications. Understanding the links between the curriculum and the quality of teaching and learning.
- The role of SLT in the three strands of intent, implementation and impact.
- Thinking outside the box - consideration for innovative ways of delivering the curriculum.
- How does the curriculum play a pivotal role in the 'the character of the school'? Developing a shared intent that is right for your pupils and your school and working with subject leaders to build a clear picture of what learning should look like in each key stage.
- Ensuring the senior leadership team have an accurate handle on the current strengths and weaknesses in the curriculum. Action planning - a short-term and long-term approach to development.
- Practicalities and the 'nitty gritty' - turning a school vision into a structure colleagues can implement.
- The relationship of English and mathematics with the wider curriculum.
- Ensuring equality of access to the curriculum for different pupil groups - implications and practice.
- Financial implications of curriculum models, including staffing, resources and CPD.
