

Deputy Headteacher : Key Issues

A programme for existing DHTs

Aimed at existing Deputy Headteachers, this programme aims to support leaders in maximising their impact. It deals with the challenges of being a DHT, including tackling complex problems, deepening understanding of school improvement and building knowledge of key educational and leadership issues.

6 half-day afternoon sessions - one each half term

Come along and:

- build your understanding of school improvement and consider the role of the DHT in leading whole school developments;
- deepen your knowledge of school data and learn to use it confidently in professional dialogue;
- sharpen your school self-evaluation skills, including lesson observations, book reviews, stakeholder voice, and audit trails - plus evaluating specific areas of school such as EYFS;
- consider how to influence the quality of teaching across the school, including inspiring others, promoting good practice and tackling underperformance;
- improve the effectiveness of your communication in all its forms and with all stakeholders, e.g. parents, governors, staff, wider community;

Vicky Crane
Consultant & trainer

- learn to utilise your emotional intelligence and leaderships skills to enhance relationships, including considering the effectiveness of the DHT / HT partnership;
- get a grip on time management and workload;
- consider leadership styles and how to work effectively in different situations and with different colleagues; and
- examine up-to-date research and respond to publications by organisations such as DfE and Ofsted.
